WASHINGTON STATE

Horse Show Committee Headed by Mrs. Kennedy

Mrs. Robert Kennedy, wife of the Attorney General, has accepted the honorary chairmanship of the opening night committee of the Washington-International Horse Show, which begins a six-day run October 24 at the D. C. Armory.

Mrs. Kennedy met this week with several members of her committee to make plans for the opening night.

Included among those on the opening night committee, which is under the general chairmanship of Mr. Richard Lee Ridge, are Mrs. Robert McCormick, Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim, Mr. and Mrs. Roy St. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cafritz and Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Fitzgerald.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer Davis, Mrs. Polk Guest, Mrs. Thurmond Chatham, Mrs. George Maurice Morris, Mr. and Mrs. George

C. McGhee, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Garrett, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Chewning.

Two of Attorney General and Mrs. Kennedy's children, Kathleen and Joseph, will ride their ponies in the following Saturday and Sunday's pony classes.

Those who will sit in the Kennedy's box at the opening night are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Markham, Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer Davis, Mr. and Mrs. David Hackett, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson and Mrs. Gerald Cummins.

Two members of the United States Equestrian Team have also been invited to sit in the Kennedy's box: Billy Steinkraus of Darien, Conn., and Hugh Wiley of Monkton, Md.

Mrs. Chatham is planning a supper following the show for riders from the international teams and other guests.
